Building the evidence base on the agricultural nutrition nexus Jul 19 2022 A rapid scan on the agriculture and nutrition situation in Vanuatu was undertaken in 2017 to build the evidence base for strengthening the linkage between two important sectors - agriculture and health, for improved food and nutrition outcomes. The food and nutrition situation in Vanuatu has changed over the years as dietary patterns and lifestyles transitioned from a dependence on mostly subsistence living to a more urbanised western lifestyle. This has resulted in increased dependence on imported foods and the consumption of refined foods that contain higher levels of saturated fats and oils, salt and sugar; less physical activity and increased exposure to other risk factors linked to alcohol intake and smoking. Variation between the food and nutrition situation of rural and urban households and between rural households involved in cash cropping and in subsistence farming, and poor and more affluent urban households have been noted.

Could be Happily Ever After Nov 18 2019 5 Half-hour Comedies where the happy ending continues Funny Sex Adventures aren't romance stories. In the Funny Sex Adventures series, a happy ending means panties dangling from the microwave, legs pointing up at the ceiling, and the neighbors asking to keep it down. Great stuff—but it ain't exactly 'they lived happily ever after'. Or is it? Whether it's the guy in a wheelchair trying to pick up bikini babes at the pool, or the innkeeper dealing with a pretty girl and her assault rifle. The stoner guy coming to terms with boob trauma, the dorm dude helping an out-of-control college girl, or the nerd proving his sexual prowess to join a fraternity. For them, we can imagine the good times (and the sex) continuing long after the happy ending of these stories! This 'Could be Happily Ever After' bundle contains the following complete and standalone stories from the Bjorn Peeters Half-hour Comedy series Funny Sex Adventures: FSA #2 The Wheelchair Jackass & the Bikini Babes FSA #3 The Innkeeper & the Assault Rifle Housewife FSA #6 The Bouncy Boobs Guy & the Uptight Violinist FSA #11 The Dorm Dude & the Stressed College Girl FSA #19 The College Nerd & the Wrong Girl 5 knee-slapping half-hour comedies that'll leave you imagining a happily ever after filled with joy and sex. Do you like upbeat comedies where everything goes wrong, but the guy ends up with the pretty girl and all is right in the end? Are you looking for a fast and easy way to relax and forget your troubles for a while? This bundle has got you covered, and is ready to put a happy grin on your face! Get it now! --- FUNNY SEX ADVENTURES is a weekly comedy series about sex, dates, flings, crushes, love, relationships, and marriage. Every episode is a complete short story with a funny twist ending. Confronting Modernity Jun 18 2022 Confronting Modernity: Art and Society in Louisiana examines how the conflicts and benefits of modernity's nationalizing influences were reflected and resisted by the state's artists in the first half of the twentieth century. In Louisiana, such change not only produced the turbulent politics of the Huey Long era but also provoked debate over new ideas on art and social roles for artists. By using two of Louisiana's most prominent cultural figures of the era as lenses, Megraw reveals the state's complex relationship with modernity. Artist Ellsworth Woodward and writer Lyle Saxon battled to retain artistic control over what they considered the exceptional character of Louisiana. Woodward defended localized assumptions through art in the world-renowned pottery program he established in 1892 and directed for more than forty years at Sophie Newcomb College. Saxon, on the other hand, fought against modernity's encroachment from within, serving as director of the Federal Writers Project in Louisiana. He used his position to promote literature and culture that preserved local place and historic structure from the transformations wrought by industrialism, consumerism, and the mass media. Confronting Modernity vividly explores how Louisiana's struggles with America's rush to modernize mirrored battles for autonomy happening between artists and governments across the country. Richard Megraw is associate professor of American studies at the University of Alabama in Tuscaloosa. His work has been published in Prospects: An Annual of American Cultural Studies.
